Cape Coral committee OK's commercial center

Originally posted on February 06, 2008

Cape Coral's planning and zoning commission this morning recommended approval of a commercial center on Diplomat Parkway, but only after demanding additional landscaping and after a contentious fight about the effect on nearby home owners.

The planned Diplomat Shoppes at Del Prado won 6-1 support from the planning board, but members encouraged developers to deal with nearby homeowners about buying out land with houses on it right now.

The project is planned on 6.7 acres. Developers plan to provide 82,000 square feet of commercial real estate, 57,000 of which would be for retail space and 25,000 for offices.

The project is planned west of Del Prado Boulevard between Diplomat and NE 17th Street.
